Engineering

Solutions Engineer

The Ivy House is looking for qualified Engineers, with several years experience of either AV, IT or Telecomm systems design and installations, able to work with initiative in a challenging and demanding environment. With no two projects the same, excellent technical and problem solving skills are essential as well as the ability to work with other team members and on-site trades to complete and commission projects on time and within budget.

As our solutions are often commissioned whilst building work is being undertaken, candidates should have a working knowledge of 1st and 2nd fix.

Applications are particularly sought from Engineers already working within the Custom Installation industry, with a basic knowledge of AMX, Lutron and multi-room audio systems such as Linn Knekt. However, this is not essential.
