

The Ivy House

Digital Home Theatre

Meridian Audio understand the business of adding great sound and pictures to interior spaces. Their systems are intelligent - this means that they can be adapted to your design needs and adjusted to perform in any room. Meridian Audio systems can do this because they make all the essential components.

Meridian Audio offers a matched range of products which can be assembled into single two channel stereo systems or 'multiroom' systems with up to seven sound channels in one room.

The Meridian Music System

All you need for perfect Stereo. Two loudspeakers and a source. The amplifiers are in the loudspeakers, so the system is simple, elegant and can be almost invisible. The Meridian MSR remote control, pointed at the loudspeaker allows the source to be hidden away.

The Meridian Compact Theatre

This has many of the features of our bigger systems but is designed to bring full surround sound to the smaller room. The MSR remote control provides access to any source with perfect sound and control.

Compact speakers can be used vertically or horizontally to fit in the neatest places. A subwoofer can be put nearly anywhere in the room to add the lowest notes and stunning theatrical effects. The Meridian G Series has digital disc and FM tuner sources and control units which connect to any digital or analogue input.

The Meridian Digital Theatre

Based on the same G Series source products as the compact theatre but with digital speakers. Providing suitable performance for larger rooms. Most Meridian products can be connected together to work as a multiroom system. For example, the CD source in one room can be heard and controlled in another.

The Meridian Digital Theatre has the unique ability to steer and adapt sound to the room. Only Digital signal processing loudspeakers can do this and only Meridian make them!

Many customers like their systems to be hidden. Meridian electronics are ideally suited for rack mounting and their loudspeakers can be readily positioned in to walls.

Meridian Installations

In some installations the customer wishes all the equipment to be hidden from view. Meridian electronics and speakers can be nearly invisible yet easily operated through the MSR remote directed at any selected Meridian speaker.

Meridian products are designed to work together, all controlled from one hand set. Because Meridian writes all its own control software the system is easier to install and use. Meridian makes all the parts you need from DVD/CD/FM sources to the world's finest digital active loudspeakers. Meridian's digital networks allow easy integration with satellite, cable and other digital or analogue sources.

The DSP7000 and DSP5500HC horizontal centre-channel unit (under the screen) form perfect complements to a G Series system and are ideal for the living room

The DSP420 In-Wall DSP Loudspeaker takes the Meridian digital loudspeaker concept and places it into a discreet enclosure, for building into your listening room or home theatre.
